

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A disc cartridge according to an aspect of the present invention allows easy draw out and insertion of an optical disc from/into a cartridge, and has a main wall opposite to one surface of an optical disc, a side wall provided in the circumference of the main wall, a disc holding claw extending from the side wall just like holding the optical disc between the main wall, and a handling area.